

SCHIFF TESTIMONY CONTRADICTS THAT GIVEN BY ALTON AND NEGRO CLOVEY

Saturday by Far the Best Day for the Defense Since Start of the Frank Trial Two Weeks Ago.

SAYS WOMEN DID NOT VISIT FRANK'S OFFICE

Lawyers for State and Defense in Frequent Clashes During the Testimony of Frank's Assistant at the Factory.

By far the best day the defense in the Frank trial has had came to a close Saturday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock when a recess was taken until 9 o'clock Monday morning, at which time Heret Schiff, assistant to Leo M. Frank, will again be on the stand to undergo a thorough cross-examination at the hands of Solicitor Dorsey. Schiff's direct testimony Saturday was of a convincing nature and the defense will largely bank on it to disprove the idea that Frank could have committed the murder and afterward done the intricate mathematical work he claims to have done during the afternoon of Memorial day. Just how Schiff's testimony will stand up under the cross fire of Solicitor Dorsey is a question which Monday alone will answer. Thus far his testimony has been the most convincing of any that has been introduced by the defense. He is an extremely bright young man, ready with his answers and he possesses a good memory. When court adjourned Saturday Solicitor Dorsey had failed to shake him on any material testimony or point.

Never Seen Women There

Schiff testified that it had been his practice for many months to work at the factory on Saturdays and that he had never seen any woman there except his wife. If women had come there he would have known them.

He stated that he did not know C. B. Dalton, the man who swore he had frequently visited the factory with Daisy Hopkins for immoral purposes.

The financial sheet which Frank asserts he brought into court and which was by Schiff. He said the handwriting was normal. In great detail he explained the various items that entered into the making of the financial sheet, such as production, cost of production, kinds of material used, etc. Many mathematical problems were necessary to make out the sheet, he said, and the work required the expenditure of several hours.

Schiff also gave important testimony on the Monday following the murder and said he (Conley) was nervous and excited during the presence of the crowd and had remarked that he would give a million dollars if he had seen a man like that.

He was questioned as to the chute in the rear of the factory and he replied it would be possible to throw a person's body down it. He replied that it would.

He was questioned as to the fact that the day Conley swore he watched for Frank and the witness said he remembered the day perfectly, that it was sunny.

He said Conley had come to the factory that day according to instructions to pile up some boxes. He and Frank had left the office together and he had seen Frank take the Washington street car about 11 o'clock.

On cross-examination Schiff confessed that it might have taken Frank a shorter length of time to make one egg entries than he had stated; that.

GENERAL CARRANZA LEADER OF MEXICAN REBELS, AND STAFF

UNDERWOOD URGED FOR U. S. SENATE

Friends Want House Leader to Try for Seat Made Vacant by Johnston's Death. Underwood Has Made No Statement.

By John Carranza, Jr. (Special.) Strong pressure is being brought to bear on Representative Underwood to become a candidate for the senate. Mr. Underwood stands both in the senate and the house, as well as all over the country, as a dominating majority leader in an effort to prove to him that it is the proper thing to do.

This point out that Mr. Underwood's chances for the presidency, a seat that all of his friends predict he will eventually reach, will be seriously jeopardized if he declines to run for the senate.

It is believed in Washington, however, that Mr. Underwood will not be so easily won over by the friends who are urging him to run for the senate.

Both of these predictions are based on the fact that Mr. Underwood is a man of high character and high ability, and that he is not easily won over by the friends who are urging him to run for the senate.

RURAL BANK SYSTEM URGED BY FLETCHER

Florida Senator Introduces a Measure to Establish Banks for Farmers.

Washington, August 9.—A national rural bank system was proposed in a bill introduced by Senator Fletcher, chairman of the American commission on rural credit, and also of the federal commission on rural credit, and introduced by the president.

The bill proposes a system of local rural banks owned and operated by farmers; a state national bank in each state to be owned and controlled by the local banks as stockholders, and the national rural bank of the United States, to be located in Washington, to be owned and operated by the state rural banks.

To supervise the proposed chain of banks there would be created in the treasury department a division of rural banking under the direction of the secretary of the treasury, and labor. The division would be under the immediate direction of a "director of rural banking" chosen by the president.

The main purpose of the banks would be to furnish funds to farmers on long-term farm bonds or notes secured by liens on farms at not exceeding 10 per cent of the value of the land. Loans would be secured first by a local bank, then by a state bank, and last by the national rural bank of the United States.

The national rural bank is to be located in Washington, to be owned and operated by the state rural banks.

Senator Fletcher, speaking in the senate today, said that the bill was introduced in the house by the banking committee, and its passage at the next session of congress, expressed approval of the administration's policy in the creation of a long-term rural bank system.

THOUGH MENACED BY IMPEACHMENT, SUZZER'S SILENT

It Is Said, However, That the New York Governor Will Make an Early Statement About Charges.

Albany, N. Y., August 9.—No statement was forthcoming from Governor Suzzler today concerning the revelations made by the Fraxley legislative committee. The governor remained at the executive mansion during the forenoon and the afternoon, leaving Mr. Suzzler for a motor trip into the country. He was expected back some time tonight.

Although the governor has given no statement, it is believed that he will make a statement in explanation of his campaign contributions and stock transactions. His friends predict he will be able to explain his position.

The executive would have nothing to say until the committee had completed its work, and as Senator Fraxley has indicated the committee has been so far enough into the governor's affairs, it is believed that he will make a statement.

HUERTA OFF HIGH HORSE; HE WILL NOT INTERFERE WITH SPECIAL ENVOY LIND

After Thinking Over the Matter, Huerta Wires Washington That No Demonstration Will Be Allowed Against American Agent.

LIND TAKES QUARTERS IN A VERA CRUZ HOTEL; NO HOSTILE OUTBREAK

Expected That the Former Governor Will Proceed to Mexico City on Monday. Huerta Seems to Have Realized That He Cannot Afford to Allow the United States Envoy to Suffer Any Indignity.

Mexico City, August 9.—Correct testimony of ex-Governor John Lind, counsel of the United States embassy here and personal representative of President Wilson, by Mexicans is assured by the Mexican foreign office in a message forwarded to Washington today and speculation in the Mexican capital tonight has turned to the nature of Mr. Lind's mysterious mission, which, apparently, in the belief of the United States government can solve the difficulties now besetting the Mexican nation.

While assuming the active and freedom from annoyance of President Wilson's representative, the Mexican government stands firm on the non-acceptance of mediation, declaring on that point that it already has made its declaration.

Lind Mission to Fall. It is regarded as a foregone conclusion in political circles here that the mission is bound to fail unless the suggestions to be made by Mr. Lind take some other form.

Neither Americans nor Mexicans here are able to imagine a plan which contemplates the Mexican government which contemplates mediation in any form by the United States.

A logical speculation was put forth by an American resident tonight, who said he had grounds for the belief that the Washington government had decided to send Mr. Lind to Mexico City to act as a mediator between the two governments.

These policies and suggestions of the president and secretary of state came out in general discussion. It was believed that the mission of Mr. Lind was to establish more friendly relations between the two governments and to bring about a settlement of the Mexican problem.

There was practically no talk of lifting the embargo on the importation of goods from Mexico which some members of the committee believe would put a speedy end to the difficulties.

The Keynote of Modern Business Is "Service"

Clear the Decks for Fun Second Week Is Coming!

With Theater Party, Auto Ride, Barbecue, Ball Game, as Attractions, Second Week of Convention Promises to Bring Bigger Crowd of Merchants Than First.

Well, the first week has gone. Three cheers for the second!

A careful survey of the city after the first week of the 1914 Southern Merchants' convention failed to find a dissatisfied individual. Every merchant who was here expressed himself as delighted with the entertainment which had been provided for him and it was with the utmost reluctance that large numbers of them tore themselves away to return to their duties at home. If every delegate who wished to move his store and business up to Atlanta could carry out his wishes, the population of the city would undoubtedly reach that half million mark in a few weeks.

The wholesale and manufacturing houses have enjoyed a splendid business. The merchants have been in and bought goods all over the city. The general result is that, while they may not have been any more successful than at the first convention, the average size of the bills has been larger, so the business done shows up well in comparison.

The meetings held each morning in the Auditorium have been an unequalled success. Large numbers of magnificent addresses have been given, and the short, five-minute talks from the different merchants present have done wonders to bring the troubles of the retailers of the South to the attention of the manufacturers.

At the Fourth Theater on Tuesday night and at the Piedmont Driving Club on Thursday afternoon, the merchants enjoyed the hospitality of their hosts in big numbers. These features of the convention gave that social fillip to a week of hard work which is needed to bring the individuals into better personal accord.

Second Week's Program.
Tomorrow morning starts the second week of the big time. There is a program all ready arranged of entertainment features which are sure to attract hundreds of merchants who could not get away for the first half of the doing.

The program starts off with a theater party at the Forest on Monday night. The entire Thursday has been earmarked and it is expected that the curtain will rise to a ball house. Tuesday afternoon The Constitution Spring Line will run an automobile sight-seeing trip around the city. The cars will leave The Constitution building at 2 p. m. and will call at a number of manufacturing plants, in order to give the merchants some further idea about the goods which are made here and which they will doubtless give the preference to in their purchases when shown that all other points are at least equal. About a dozen factories will be visited and the entire trip will occupy about three hours.

Wednesday afternoon at 1 p. m. there will be a barbecue and branch-stew at Ponce de Leon Springs. This is always one of the most popular features of the convention and many merchants arrange their trip in order to be in the city for this occasion.

The final entertainment of the convention will be a ball game at the Ponce de Leon ball park, between Atlanta and Chattanooga. There are hundreds of fans, both among the merchants and their Atlanta hosts and this is another very popular feature. Saturday will be devoted to giving "the Revue" and making dates for the next convention in February.

"MAY WE MEET AGAIN SOON AND OFTEN"

Change of Headquarters

Secretary Harry T. Moore wishes to announce that for the second week of the Southern Merchants' Convention, the place of registration will be changed. Instead of the Auditorium, the registration booth will be established at the Piedmont hotel, where all incoming merchants are requested to register immediately upon their arrival in the city.

GET IT WHILE IT'S HOT

T. B. Lewis, with the Capital City Tobacco company, has been on the list for a week or so. He was up to the office for a short time Thursday and will be back on the job on Monday morning. W. B. Charlton has made several points for him this week.

J. W. Hudson, with the Lamar & Rankin Lumber Co., is out again tomorrow on his out Georgia territory after a two weeks' vacation.

J. P. Jenkins, the Florida man with Brown, Perryman & Greene Co., is one of the salesmen who is in for the convention and is having a mighty good time. Mr. Jenkins is so proud of Florida that they are christening him "a kid from the land of oranges."

Williams & Meyer, of Baltimore, Md., are showing their complete line in fourteen large sample rooms in the Aragon hotel. The display is in charge of Z. M. Williams and is one of the most complete lines of holiday goods that comes to the city. They come here every year with this display and this year it has even outdone those of previous years. Atlanta is chosen for their southern headquarters on this trip on account of its central position and ease for distribution.

P. H. Jeter, with John Silver & Co., has been the busiest man on the list with them for the entire week. This is his first convention experience as a local salesman, and he is tickled to death with everything pertaining to the honorary position.

Jim Bates, house salesman with Brown, Perryman & Greene company, states that he is enjoying the experience of meeting all his old friends amongst the merchants. It is now about three months since Mr. Bates left the road and it is a novel experience with him to be meeting his old friends for the first time as a local man.

Temporary Organization Formed at Friday Session

Officers Are Empowered to Draw Up Charter to Submit at Meeting Next February, When Permanent Organization Will Be Formed.

At Friday's meeting of the convention a temporary organization of the body was formed with the following officers: J. W. Vaughan, of Carterville, president; R. O. Crouch, vice president; T. E. Smith, second vice president; H. T. Moore, secretary and treasurer.

The committee which recommended this temporary organization was composed of J. W. Vaughan, chairman; R. O. Crouch and H. E. Choate. The resolution which they submitted to the convention, and which was finally accepted, was as follows:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention:

We, the committee appointed to formulate a plan of temporary organization of this body, beg leave to submit the following report:

We recognize the necessity of mature deliberation in the working out of a comprehensive plan and we therefore have considered ourselves with suggesting only an outline for a permanent organization which, if adopted, will enable those in charge to proceed with the perfecting of plans for a permanent organization.

We recommend the adoption of the following as the plan of a temporary organization, to be made permanent hereafter provided:

First: That the organization be known as Southern States Merchants' Association.

Second: That the headquarters of said association be in Atlanta, Ga.

Third: That the object of said organization be the cooperation among its members in all things calculated to advance their interests and the welfare of our section.

Fourth: That the executive officers of said association consist of a president, a first vice president, a second vice president and a secretary and treasurer and that said officers be elected at this meeting.

Fifth: That a committee be appointed to draft a charter and a set of bylaws.

We are thankful for so few cases of illness reported during the entire week most all the time.

Our annual barbecue will be held on Saturday, August 23. We are anticipating a good crowd, and are assured of a good time by the committee in charge.

Brother T. J. Camp, with Bell Bros., was reported ill at Davis & Packer's restaurant. We trust he will soon be well again.

Brother John Baker appeared at the meeting yesterday morning minus his mustache. Brother Baker has worn this mustache since the memory of man reaches not to the contrary, and his being without it was such a surprise to him as he was that he could hardly recognize him. He was first taken for a 15-year-old boy who had slipped in among us. Now don't all you old boys shake at the same time.

Emory S. Morris was elected treasurer at the meeting yesterday morning. He is pleased to have Brother Morris in our line of officers, and are sure he will always be found with his shoulder to the wheel helping to push the C. S. A. ahead.

Boys, don't forget the hour of meeting—10 o'clock, Saturday morning, fourth floor, city hall.

to be reported for adoption at a general meeting to be held in Atlanta, in February, 1915, at which all Southern Merchants here represented and others who may be invited by the officers may be present and take part.

We recommend that the officers, in the absence of a charter and bylaws, be empowered and authorized to do such things as may be necessary to prepare the way for a permanent organization at the meeting to be held in February, 1915, the exact date to be left to the officers to determine.

J. W. VAUGHAN, Chairman.
R. O. CROUCH, Secretary.
H. E. CHOATE, Treasurer.

The successful organization of this body is a solid result of the convention, which will have immense effect on the business world of the south for years to come. If for no other reason, this convention will go down in history as one of the most successful ever held in that it was the cause of the start of the banding together of the merchants for their mutual welfare. The officers who have been chosen are men who will fill their positions in a manner which assures a successful foundation for the work of the permanent body which will be formed in February.

It is a wise move to postpone the permanent organization until February. It will give every merchant who is interested in his own country and its business a chance to get into all the matters which will have to be taken care of and a proper consideration of all these questions at this time will have as effect on the ultimate usefulness of the body which is fully worth the time which will be spent.

Committee on Nominations.
The committee on nominations of the convention was as follows: Louis H. Baker, chairman; C. W. McClure, J. R. Mobley and W. L. Percy.

CHOATE TALKS ON STOCK INSURANCE

Treasurer of J. K. Orr Shoe Co. Gives Address On Important Feature of Mercantile Safety.

The following speech was given by Herbert E. Choate, treasurer of J. K. Orr shoe company, at the Friday session of the convention. It treats of an exceedingly important factor in the success of every merchant, and is worthy of the deepest study by all merchants.

The subject of the address is "Can a Merchant Afford to Ignore His Stock?"

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention: I could wish that no important subject had been assigned to other hands.

"It is to be presumed that in a general way no clear-minded business man would for a moment oppose a negative answer to this query, but, unfortunately, a great many of us will accept as a matter of course the advice of some of our certain lines of conduct and afterwards assume a risk in disregard of such rules as far as we are individually concerned."

Ben Franklin wisely observed that experience is a hard school, but those who learn in no other and scarce in that, I think our philosopher might

YANCEY HILL ON CROP DIVERSITY

Leading Montezuma Merchant Tells Personal Experiences In Strong Speech Advocating Diversified Crops.

The following is the address delivered by Yancey Hill, a leading grocer merchant of Montezuma, at the convention meeting of Tuesday last.

Before giving you what I consider the correct solution to this question, I want to discuss the importance of the farmers of Georgia raising a crop sufficient to supply their needs, saving nothing of the great variety of crops that they could successfully and profitably raise. It is an admitted fact that Georgia can grow, successfully, a larger variety of crops than any state in the union.

It is also a fact that she can produce as much of more corn, oats and hay per acre than any other state, and, in the face of these facts, we are shipping into her borders every year more grain and hay than we produce. For the farmers and those interested in farming to allow such a condition as this to exist and continue is a travesty on the intelligence of our people.

Why is it that our farmers are today in debt and dependent upon the bankers and merchants to aid them in making crops? It is because they have been depending almost entirely

ATLANTA, GA., SUNDAY MORNING, AUGUST 10, 1913

THE QUALITY KID BY JOHN R. BRAY.

Schiff Put on Stand to Refute HIS STATEMENTS HELP DEFENSE Conley and Dalton Testimony

Herbert G. Schiff, assistant to Leo Frank at the National Penitentiary, followed J. M. Mims on the stand Saturday. His testimony was used by the defense in an effort to refute the statements of Jim Conley and C. B. Dalton to the effect that Frank frequently had women in the office on Saturdays and holidays and he also went into great detail and testified to the complexity of the financial sheet and the large amount of work necessary to complete it.

He was being cross-examined by the state until 12:30 o'clock Monday morning. At the time of adjournment the attorney was trying to show by cross-questions that the witness had exaggerated the amount of work and the time required upon the financial sheet which it is claimed Frank made out on the Saturday before the murder was discovered.

"Do you have anything to do with keeping the books and setting up the financial statement?" Mr. Arnold asked.

"Yes, I do."

"What work did you do for the factory first, you or Mr. Frank?"

"Mr. Frank."

"What sort of work did you first do?"

"I assisted in the office work of the factory and early in January was promoted and went on the road, then the office force got shut and I offered my services in the office again and returned to the factory."

"The witness then stated that he and Frank handled the petty cash and drawers and other incidents."

"Where do you get the cash for your payroll?"

"From the bank on a check of the National Penitentiary, signed by Mr. Mims, general manager."

"Do you draw more or less than the amount of the payroll?"

"We draw a check to meet the payroll to the firm."

"How much cash did you get from the bank?"

"I did."

"How much cash is usually kept on hand in the office?"

"About $15 to $20 for incidentals."

"What are some of the things for which you spend it?"

"Drinks, between for the night watchman, soap, candles and other things like that needed around the factory."

"When do you and Frank get paid?"

"On the last of the month."

"Frank paid $100 a month."

"Was his Frank paid a month?"

"Yes, his salary is $100 a month."

"Where does the general manager, Mr. Mims, sign?"

"His office is at Montak brothers' place, four blocks away."

"Where is the place of bills and the banking of the money for the National Penitentiary factory?"

"At Montak brothers'."

"Did you or Frank ever draw any checks on the name of the penitentiary company to pay bills or for anything else?"

"Neither of us had any authority to sign a check for the National Penitentiary company."

"How does this financial sheet show?"

"It tries to show the profit and loss for the work."

"The witness then showed the financial sheet and with him Mr. Arnold went into great detail about the getting up of the sheet and the left hand operations it entailed."

"How long had it been customary to get this sheet up?"

"Ever since the factory had been in existence."

"What part of the work do you do in the sheet?"

"I set up reports from the different foremen on the amount of materials used, and also to supply the total of the payroll."

"Since June, 1912, how many days have you missed from work?"

"Not a day."

"How about your vacation?"

"Oh, yes, I took a vacation last year. I had the last week in July and the first week in August."

"What were your hours on Saturdays?"

"Were you there in the afternoon?"

"My custom was to leave at 11:30 and get back at 2:15 on Saturday afternoon."

"How about Frank?"

"He would leave at 1 and get back at 2:15."

"Never Locked Doors."

"Did you or Frank ever lock the doors when you were at work in the office?"

"No, we never did."

"Did the strongsmen ever work on Saturdays?"

"Very seldom."

"Did salesmen come in on that day?"

"Yes, frequently."

"Who all worked there on Saturday afternoons?"

"Men who offered and repaired the machinery and others who went to the factory."

"Who was the night watchman before you?"

"A white man."

"Did you ever have a negro hired as a night watchman before?"

"No, we never did."

"How about Frank?"

"Do you really ever having seen Jim"

Conley around the factory on Saturday?"

"No, I never seen him there, then."

"Denial Presence of Women."

"Did you and Frank ever have women in the office?"

"No, I never seen him there, then."

"No."

"Between June, 1912, and April, 1913, did you ever miss a Saturday at the factory, except while you were on your vacation?"

"Not one."

"You went on the road early in January, didn't you?"

"Yes, I left the first Saturday in January."

"What time were you there that afternoon?"

"I was there from noon until about 5 o'clock, when Mr. Frank went with me to the train."

"Did you see Conley there that day?"

"No."

"Do you ever see C. B. Dalton around the factory?"

"No, I never see him."

"Do you know a woman named Daisy Hopkins?"

"Yes, she used to work at the factory."

"Do you remember when she left?"

"Yes, I do not. I only remember that there was such a woman there at the factory during the afternoon."

"This book starts on May, 1912, and according to it she was working there, but her name is not on the payroll after the week of June 8, 1912."

"Did you ever see her come back to the factory after that?"

"No, I never see her."

"On that Thanksgiving day do you recall what happened and who was in the office during the afternoon?"

"Yes, Mr. Frank and I and Conley were there, and Conley and the boy went to the fourth floor to clean it up that morning and Conley left at about 10:30."

"Did you and Frank leave together?"

"Yes."

"In what time?"

"About 11:30."

"Where did you go?"

"We went to the Mitchell and Alabama to get our cars."

"Did you see a car there?"

"Yes, Mr. Frank caught a Washington street car and left with my car, and came a few moments later."

"Did you see a car there?"

"Yes, Mr. Frank caught a Washington street car and left with my car, and came a few moments later."

HANK THE HERMIT

Good Old Soul, He Lights His Pipe All Right!

By Walt McDougall

This Announcement Is of Vital Interest to Everyone In Atlanta Who Has An Un- filled Want of Any Nature Whatsoever

Every Man, Woman and Child Should Read All of It!

The Constitution inaugurates with this issue a much improved and greatly simplified system for the classification of its "WANT ADS."

This system is designed to add to your convenience and aid you in the use of our "WANT AD" columns. And, as will be readily seen, it does away with the annoyance experienced by the readers of "WANT ADS" in newspapers which do not use a method as complete as The Constitution's, in locating the particular offer for which they are searching.

On the first page of the "WANT AD" Section will be found an index showing the page and column in which the different classifications are to be found.

The larger classifications have been subdivided for your convenience, as follows:

HELP WANTED—Male

Stores and Offices
Professions and Trades
Salesmen and Solicitors
Agents
Miscellaneous

FOR RENT—Rooms

Unfurnished—North Side
Unfurnished—South Side
Furnished—North Side
Furnished—South Side
Furnished or Unfurnished

HELP WANTED—Female

Stores and Offices
Domestics
Saleswomen and Solicitors
Agents
Miscellaneous

REAL ESTATE—For Sale

Business District
Residence District
Suburban
Farm Lands
Timber Lands

Similar sub-classifications have already been arranged where necessary, and others will be added when advisable.

Under this arrangement every advertisement will be placed under the classification where it rightfully belongs.

It will not be necessary for you, when looking for business property under "REAL ESTATE—For Sale—Business District" for instance, to be bored with an account of the excellence of Prof. Dodo's method of instruction on the piccolo, for that information may be found under the classification "MUSIC and DANCING," where of course you would look, if you were at all interested in taking lessons on the piccolo.

Mr. Man Out-of-a-Job, who needs work badly, and is searching the "HELP WANTED" columns for a situation, will not have to read about the superior tables in the Umtump Pool Parlors, or the charm of some new drink—for these advertisements will appear under suitable classifications, but he will find only offers of positions, one or more of which may be just to his liking.

This idea will be followed throughout all classifications.

Advertisers will, of course, at once see the wisdom of The Constitution's system, for it means to them greatly increased returns for the money expended.

They will agree that a man who is seriously looking for a job, for instance, is not a very good prospect for a pool parlor, etc.

Another innovation is the "Too Late to Classify" column which will be found in the main news section every Sunday. In future The Constitution will close its regular classified forms for Sunday's paper at 10 P. M. Saturday night. Any "WANT ADS" received after that hour will appear in the "Too Late to Classify" column.

But the most interesting fact about The Constitution's "WANT AD" columns is that every advertisement appearing in these columns is paid for by the advertiser.

Therefore every advertisement means business.

The Constitution does not give away its advertising space, nor does it offer prizes to induce people to solicit "WANT ADS" for it.

The Constitution stands on the record it has made during the forty-five years of its life, and sells its space at a fair price to one and all alike.

The Constitution knows as well as the public that---

N. Y. PASTOR PLANS SPOONING PARLORS

Rev. Dr. John R. Gunn, Formerly of Atlanta, Plans Innovation for Young Folks of New York.

New York, August 9.—(Special.)—Pre-arranged parlor with a fact of life character in this call, a plan to stir sentimentality, a safe as a reminder that marriage means shift or disaster, expert advice on how to propose and every other wholesome aim that warm love for his fellow man may be part of the scheme of the Rev. Dr. John R. Gunn, pastor of the North Baptist church in this city and formerly pastor of the Central Baptist church in Atlanta. This is no sudden notion, but the result of long and prayerful thought.

There are countless working girls living in furnished rooms who cannot receive young men in them and keep their reputations," said Dr. Gunn. "They are entitled to have some place where they may enjoy the advantages that help their more fortunate sisters to happy wedlock.

"The church," he said, "has the right to confirm the young man and woman and perform the last rites over the dead. There is no reason that it should not take up this important office for humanity.

"Spoonng parlors" is the name Dr. Gunn has chosen after giving the subject careful consideration. His first aim, and as he proposes, frankly to supply a place for young men and girls to meet, and to give them a chance to get acquainted with each other in a safe and sane way.

The spoonng parlors. Two large rooms with a wide opening between them in the front of the parlor, will be the "spoonng parlors." They are comfortable, furnished with a table and chairs, and a large mirror on the wall. The rooms are in the front of the parlor, and are open to the public.

Sermons on Love and Matrimony.

"How to Get a Husband and How to Keep Him," and "How to Get a Wife and How to Keep Her" are subjects of a series of sermons which Dr. Gunn has been preaching with gratifying success. He says there is no man for a woman to be a happy single, because there is no such thing.

"I haven't much use for an unmarried man," he said. "Unmarried men should be married. Should a girl pray for a husband? Sure she should. Why shouldn't she? Every girl ought to have her man to win the love of a good man, and I am going to help as many to do so as I can reach."

"My idea is to do with these parlors what social settlements are doing in providing a suitable meeting place for young men and women, and what other institutions have advanced their churches do. But I think our church is the first to really do it."

"I am going to begin the autumn work with an evangelistic campaign and have an organized force go from house to house and invite them all to come. Then, when the young people are in the proper spiritual condition, I will be on hand and Mrs. Gunn will be in the chaplaining. Everything is being done to make it a success."

"These parlors will be a place for the young people to meet in a safe place, for they want to do so. Wednesday night will be the principal night, although the rooms will be open on all evenings."

"I believe the church ought to be interested in everything that affects its members. Then why not in matrimony? In a big city like New York there is an absence of community life, as is found in smaller places. My idea is that the church should supply that lack."

"I believe that I will not only shepherd these young people, but we will be ready for consultations and advice. I am a minister, and I know how to propose to a girl. I would like to come to me, and I will help him. I have no sympathy with this talk about the high cost of matrimony. The less a pair have to start housekeeping on, the greater chance there is for domestic happiness."

No Health Certificate Demanded. Dr. Gunn will not ask for a health certificate, but he will require a health certificate from the parents of the young people who come to the parlors.

The Famous Churchills Who Are Mixed in the Public Mind

WINSTON SPENCER-CHURCHILL, The British Statesman.

A famous picture puzzle which many of our people on both sides of the Atlantic have not as yet satisfactorily solved is the division of the honors due to the two Winston Churchills. Both have honored the literary field in the new book, recognized for the brilliant English cabinet officer, was used.

Some time ago The Constitution's Literary Page had a review of the popular new novel "The Inside of the Cup," by Winston Churchill, the prominent American novelist, but by mistake the picture of Winston Churchill, the brilliant English cabinet officer, was used.

JAPAN ASKS DEATH FOR THREE CHINESE

Amoy, China, August 8.—The Japanese government today demanded that the Chinese authorities order the execution of three Chinese who were charged with the destruction of property and the killing and wounding of a number of persons in the recent anti-Japanese riots in this city. The demands must be met by tomorrow, according to the note sent by the Japanese.

The Chinese officials replied, agreeing to the conditions but declaring that it would be impossible for them to effect the arrest of the culprits in the period stated as they have fled to the interior.

Lake Toxaway Season at Height With Boating, Balls and Suppers

By Louise Dooley

After all it is the people that define the character of a summer resort just as it is the dancers who establish the atmosphere of a ballroom, whether the fashion of the day be the minuet or the tango.

And here at Toxaway in two weeks' time the pitch has changed completely, from a mellow, conservatism, deep throated and respectful, to the tamer high note of an easy gaiety.

Two gifted blazers. Terms which suggest at once a happy feature of the quiet hours at Toxaway—the singing of two gifted blazers—Miss Kate Jackson and Miss Adele Ellis, the rich contralto of the one and the resonant soprano of the other, have been the memorable incidents of the summer.

JINGO SQUELCHED BY DISAPPROVAL

Both Democratic and Republican Senators Silence Smith of Michigan When He Tries to Stir Mexican Question.

Washington, August 9.—Another threatening outbreak in the senate today over the Mexican situation was squelched by emphatic disapproval from republicans and democrats who joined in declaring that the senate should not by discussion lend weight to any efforts to intensify feeling in Mexico.

After Senator Smith, of Michigan, had opened the subject by declaring that the constitutional junta here had the ear of the state department and was inflicting the people with the relaxation of Ambassador Wilson, Senator Williams, of Mississippi, replied with the charge that there was an "organized and systematic effort" to bring about war with Mexico. He declared "there was money behind it, and not all Mexican money."

"In my deliberate opinion," he said, "there is now an organized and systematic effort to bring about war between the United States and Mexico, and it is my duty as a senator to speak out against it."

Senator Smith, after announcing he would make a statement on Monday, reported from the senate committee which worked along the Mexican side of the dispute, and asked to be permitted to make a statement on the subject.

democratic leaders to shut off discussion. Senator Bryan, however, sharply assailed Senator Smith for coming directly from the floor and for the foreign relations committee, of which both were members, and making charges that never had been laid before the committee.

Senator Smith drew a distinction between the state department and the senate. "The state department is run by the secretary of state," suggested Senator Sherman.

"I don't believe it," retorted Senator Smith. "Although you say so."

Basis for Statement. Senator Smith's speech was based on a statement submitted to the senate several days ago by Senator Sherman, showing the constitutional strength.

Senator Smith questioned it and Sherman defended his action in submitting it. Smith explained he meant only to express the influence in Washington in behalf of the constitutionalists.

Hopkins and Felix Summerfield, he charged, "who had charge of the Mexican propaganda on the border for the last two years" were engaged now in Washington attempting to influence the action of the United States toward Mexico.

Senator Smith said that the government for services to that cause, "had had the ear of the state department, and he believed, still had the ear of the state department."

"To you claim he has been lobbying the secretary of state to listen to Senator Sherman, who suggested calling the men before the lobby committee."

"I claim he has attempted to influence the department of state and I claim that he has had much to do with the removal of Ambassador Wilson," retorted Senator Smith.

Smith wanted proof. "If the senate wants proof, let them summon these men and expose this junta," Senator Sherman defended the right of the secretary of state to listen to representations of revolutionists and of Mexican officials.

Smith explained that Hopkins testified before his committee last February. "Senator Sherman retorted that testimony is a committee last February, and he believed, still had the ear of the state department."

Charles L. Payne, ex-Hopkins. Mr. Hopkins later, said this statement.

"The charges of Senator William Aldrich Smith, after announcing he would make a statement on Monday, reported from the senate committee which worked along the Mexican side of the dispute, and asked to be permitted to make a statement on the subject."

SPECIAL ENVOY LIND REACHES VERA CRUZ

Veracruz, August 9.—Governor John Lind, of Minnesota, the personal representative of the United States and consul of the American embassy at Mexico City, landed on Mexican soil late this afternoon, and went direct to his quarters in Vera Cruz.

When he will leave for the capital has not yet been determined, but it will not be tonight.

Both the ex-governor and Mrs. Lind were tired this evening, and he made no haste to rush into the stronghold of Provisional President Huerta, although the delay in doing so will be out a day or two at the most.

The people of Vera Cruz gave no intimation of any desire to indulge in a demonstration of disapproval of Mr. Lind's coming. His landing was witnessed by only a small group of the more ardent of the citizens.

He made the trip from Galveston since the vessel anchored shortly after noon. Some slight apprehension was felt by foreigners here that a popular demonstration might be held tonight, but being feared that the thousands of the state department would be material for soldiers, but local authorities assured Mr. Lind that any attempt at disorder would be suppressed.

Message From State Department

A message from the state department was handed to Mr. Lind as soon as the New Hampshire anchored, and with Mr. William Bryan, minister to Mexico, as a personal representative, he was taken to his quarters.

Both appeared to be impressed with his contents, but they were non-committal as to its character.

Mr. Lind's call of courtesy on Rear Admiral Frank F. Fletcher, aboard the battleship, was made at the request of his mission, the ex-governor maintaining the same reserve regarding his instructions that characterized his previous visits to Mexico.

Mr. Lind was accompanied by Mr. Charles L. Payne, ex-Hopkins, who was gathered at the pier, but there was no sign of open hostility.

Acting upon instructions from the federal authorities at Mexico City, the officials issued orders to the troops to show no demonstration, but apart from these orders, the public appeared almost apathetic.

There was not even a casual meeting between ex-governor Lind and the local officials. Mr. Lind's call of courtesy on Rear Admiral Frank F. LIND IN NO DANGER. DECLARES DE LA BARRA

New York, August 9.—While admitting that Mexico is facing a grave situation, but that the American ambassador to France, in a statement issued tonight, declared it is fully expected that ex-governor Lind, the personal representative of President Wilson to Mexico, would be subjected to any personal danger. The statement follows:

"I believe all political parties and factions in Mexico will agree unanimously against any idea of intervention by a foreign country in our internal affairs. I am optimistic of those that very shortly our internal affairs will improve and that the relations between this country and Mexico will be bettered by careful consideration of the principles of justice and the obligations of international law."

"I call on every native of Mexico in this solemn moment in which the national interest must dominate above the personal interest and above political divisions, and I call on all men of good will to whom peace on earth is promised, to work for a peaceful solution of the Mexican problem."

Senor de la Barra will sail for France the latter part of next week.

CONFERENCE HELD REGARDING MEXICO

At Vera Cruz, exchanging messages by direct wire with officials at Washington, the president discussed with the senators the situation in Mexico during his administration a matter of foreign policy.

Though the president has been constantly in touch with Mr. Lind, he has not yet received any definite information about the situation in Mexico, and he has not yet received any definite information about the situation in Mexico.

be conducted fairly. They claimed that only by the abolition of Huerta, in favor of a provisional president, acceptable to them, would they consent to lay down their arms. Those questions it is believed, the American government leaves entirely to Provisional President Huerta, but it is believed to be necessary for the necessity for an early election to establish a constitutional government to which the United States could extend recognition.

Administration officials say that further suggestions to Mr. Lind.

It developed tonight that when Secretary Bryan telegraphed Charles O'Rourke yesterday in reply to Minister Aldrich's official message, which said Mr. Lind's mission was an unwelcome one, he made pointed inquiry regarding the personal safety of Mr. Lind in Mexico.

Minister Aldrich's statement tonight given out in Mexico City, stating that the situation here was not dangerous, were entirely without foundation, and that the envoy might pass through the country freely without being subject to molestation," developed that the administration here had received no notice of the question of Mr. Lind's personal safety, that was was made public in Washington.

the governor to purchase stock in Wall street.

Now, he said, he was in a position to talk to this thing or even think of it, and Senator Frank B. Rowland, of New York, said today: "No man can say truly that I am glad we have uncovered this situation. It is a blow to the entire state of New York. But Governor Sulzer is responsible for his own acts."

"I notice," he added, "that some of the papers are saying that unless there are impeachment proceedings it will be necessary to call an alliance between Tammany Hall and the governor."

Frankly said he had no indication of what the governor's defense would be.

Herod's Hog and Herod's Son

A Roman cynic said: "Rather be Herod's hog than be Herod's son."

Herod's boys— They were dead.

Herod's heartlessness— His cruel indifference had killed them.

The children had displeased Herod— But the hog—he was alive.

REAL ESTATE TALK

BY ADAIR

There are in New York some queer old Dutch millionaires, descendants of former truck real estate investors who settled on Manhattan Island used to grow beets and cabbages, carry them down in boats and sell them at the docks. Their farms were also growing something else besides vegetables; they grew city lots. The second generation became landed aristocrats and were rich enough to afford to walk downtown for exercise. One of these old millionaires left an estate of $1,000,000 to an only son. The estate consisted entirely of property in New York city.

Thirty years afterward this only son died and the estate was appraised at $30,000,000. Now the peculiar thing about it was that it was exactly the same property left by his father. Not a single parcel had been sold, not a new parcel had been bought. This is what some people call "unimproved real estate." It is what we would call "creamed" or "natural" or "natural increase in value of real estate in growing cities. A man gets it by common sense, by paying taxes and assessments, by patiences and by letting stocks and bonds alone. The lure of the car-fare investment or the get-rich-quick speculation does not tempt him. Real estate enhancement is normal, customary and the owner is entitled to it.

The inheritance tax of New York turns up these stories of unusual enhancement in real estate. In contrast with the inheritance which increased from the slightest to thirty millions we learn of a woman who was left $5,000,000 in gilt-edge bonds. After a long term of years the bonds, which had been held intact, were appraised, were worth 101, some were worth 102. This woman was a Mrs. Green, son of character, who managed to live comfortably on a low income. The increase in value, the estate simply held its own. It was not like a certain place of property that was sold last year for $100,000. The owner came in with an old yellow deed that almost fell to pieces when unfolded. It showed a purchase price of $5,000.

Income and enhancement are the twin daughters of real estate. The asset each other, and each set off the other's gains. Twenty years ago Peaches stores rented for fifty months, now these same stores rent at a hundred. Each successive lease attached to a Peaches store, showing that thirty years from now it will yield 3 1/2 per cent. "But bonds are easily convertible in line of stream," says the expert. A good many people who have tried to sell some lately do not seem to agree with this. Some of very gilt-edge bonds over offered couldn't be sold at 90. In the mean time we tried to pry some central property loose from its owners, and couldn't get it to any name price.

Figures in New York run on a large scale than they do here, but the same process is going on. The truck farms are out on the edge of Atlanta, a growing increased value, along with their crops. They are maturing quickly, the time will come when a designer will be driving down state at lot corners out in the cornfield. The money realized from the sale will be reinvested up town in near-in property; it is time will develop into speed renting property, and this foundations of a large fortune will be laid. In some instances the process has been going on long enough to make what we call the rich men of Atlanta. What made them rich? The land increased in value.

Taking it all in all, the year real estate is the best investment the average man. Without expert knowledge or inside information, people are successfully dealing in stocks or bonds. One man in Fulton county made a thousand test of stock-brokers. His name was Mr. Miller, and the records of his name are on file in the ordinary's office. The case is historic. This man, at the time of his death, owned 7,000 shares in 68 different companies. His holdings brought $4.80 at administration sale.

Valdosta, Ga., August 9.—(Special.) Mrs. William McDonald, of this city, took an overdose of a narcotic last night, and only prompt measures were taken which reached her within a short time, saved her life. It is said that Mrs. McDonald has been very dependent for several weeks and had threatened to kill herself. Her family and friends, however, appeared to attach little importance to the threats. She rallied this morning from the comatose condition in which she remained last night, and it is believed now that she will recover from the poison.

upon cotton for their maintenance and support and getting their grain and hay from the west, and just so long as this condition of affairs exist they will never be a prosperous people.

I do not know of a farmer in our county who has made a practice of raising plenty of grain and hay for his own use, who is not independent today and knows nothing of what the people call hard times and those who have grain and hay to sell always have good bank accounts.

RAISE GRAIN.
If every farmer in Georgia would raise enough grain and hay for his own use and then a little to spare, the banks would have more money in them than they could use, and would be looking for a place to invest it and a good deal could be borrowed at 5 per cent, and doing the fellow that he borrowed it from a favor.

I dare say that there is not a farmer in Georgia today that has not bought and will not have to buy a single dollar's worth of grain or hay but would go to the bank and borrow what money he actually needs and the banker would not dare ask him for security in the face of the tightest money market that we have known for years.

I believe that the bankers and merchants would be doing the farmers a favor if they would refuse to assist them when they did not make grain and hay sufficient to supply their own farms. Merchants as a rule do not encourage farmers to make anything except cotton. When the farmer enters the store about the first question that is asked him is, how is your cotton crop? The cotton crop is first in the merchants mind because he knows that the farmer is depending on it that the farmer is depending on it that is getting.

In the summer of 1911 I took a gentleman from South Carolina into the country to show him a farm that I had an option on to try to sell it to him. He was out looking at the farm, the place that was showing was offered at $150 per acre. After looking over the place pretty thoroughly and having all the good things I could about it and more too, we came to a little farm that joined this place, and to show him what a bargain I had offered him I remarked to him:

"This is a farm that I do not believe could be bought for $50 per acre. About that time I saw the farmer standing in his front yard, and I called him to come out and meet me. South Carolina friend and his prospective neighbor. We had talked but a short while before I asked him what he would take for his farm. He answered me promptly, 'It is not for sale.'"

I said to him, "I understand you do not want to sell it, but suppose you could get $15 per acre for it, would you not be interested?" He replied, "No, sir, I would not take $30 in fact, it is not for sale at any price."

That gentleman had shipped a car of grain and hay just a few days before that, and had more for sale in Georgia were all of just such farmers as that, instead of the large value worth from $10 to $20 per acre they would be worth from $50 to $100, and there would be less land for sale than there is today, and we could do business in Georgia on a cash basis and sell goods. And will our farmers get on this basis we can never prosper as we are now.

ABOUT FERTILIZERS.
I want to call your attention just a moment to what I consider the greatest curse the south has today. I know that there are many people who do not agree with me, but the day is coming when you will if you live long enough. And that is commercial fertilizers. I do not want to see the idea from what I say that I do not believe commercial fertilizers increase production. But, on the other hand, I know they do. I believe that the cotton crop of the south is much larger each year, on account of their use and the price is much lower than it would have been without their use. In the cotton year that closes with this month I have been informed by good authority that it would take more than 2,000,000 bales to pay for the commercial fertilizers used in making the crop. Now for the sake of argument let us admit that the crop was increased by the use of 3,000,000 bales, it would take more than 2,000,000 bales to pay for it. It was increased that much, but it was not worth it. The 1,000,000 that we made then it would, we would have saved what we paid for commercial fertilizers a good deal. But that is not the harm it does. The convenience of some commercial fertilizers makes the farmer more dependent on some fertilizers and causes him to wear out his land when he should have worn out his shoes.

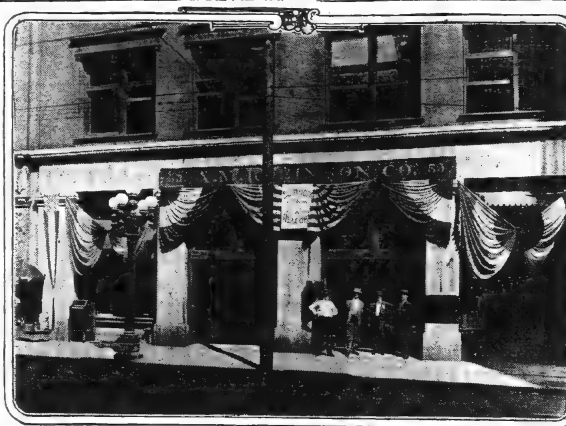

SOME EXPERIENCE.
I want to tell you of a little of my farming experience. I have farmed some myself. In 1908 in our section we made what we called a failure. In a cotton crop. I had bought about $1,000 worth of commercial fertilizers that year, and when time came to pay for them I had not the money so I went to see my fertilizer man and told him my trouble. He very courteously extended my note twelve months, for which I felt very grateful, and when time came to pay fertilizers again, he made it a point to see me and told me that he wanted to sell me again. I told him that I had made up my mind never to buy another dollar's worth of commercial fertilizers until I had paid for that which I had used the year before. He then asked me what I was going to do to do that. He was going to farm without it. He remarked that he was making a mistake. He came out to see my overcoat and told him what I had made up my mind to do, and told him that I wanted him to give all the time that he could to hauling in top soil and swamp mud and pay special attention to his bare fertilizer. In this way we managed after a style to fertilize about half of our cotton crop.

My overcoat remarked to me about the time we were plowing that we would have very little use for cotton baskets in the fall.

In 1909 we made only $7 bales of cotton. In 1908 without a single dollar's worth of commercial fertilizers we made 91 bales on almost the identical land.

I had a talk with my fertilizer dealer and asked him how he was accounted for the increase. He remarked that it was a better crop year and besides the fertilizer that I had used the year before helped that year, but he said

HEADQUARTERS FOR ARAGON SHIRTS

A. M. Robinson Company, North Pryor Street.

ANOTHER BOOSTER

you better not try it another year. I refused to take his advice and to not buy and commercial fertilizer in 1910. That was the poorest crop year in the memory of even our oldest citizens but my farm furnished the largest per cent of the total receipts that I had ever furnished that year. We made only 44 bales. I made a better crop than any of my neighbors. I again went to my fertilizer dealer and asked him how he accounted for it. He said, 'Fertilizer did not pay anyone this year, but if you keep that up you will get caught.'"

Yet I told him that I had such a good time for two years that I was going to try it the third and I did. The result was that in 1911 I made 94 bales, the largest crop of any of the four years. You remember this was the bumper crop of 94 of the year. I made only 44 bales. I then asked my fertilizer dealer how he accounted for my crop that year. His reply was that each of these three years we gave special attention to home fertilizers. Now what I would improve upon you is the importance of home fertilizers, the most neglected and most needed crop in Georgia today.

Now I come back to the real issue. How can bankers and merchants best direct their influence toward greater diversity and let them know it is so simple that you can do it.

After I had accepted the invitation to make a talk on this topic, I began, as the merchant would say, the story of the merchants' bankers and other business of the town and found that more than 90 per cent of them were farmers. I looked over the other towns in the county and found the same condition existed. I then began to tell the story of the farm lands what I saw.

These men. The investigation showed that nearly, if not fully, 90 per cent of the farm lands were owned by them. And I have no doubt that the results would be practically the same if the investigation were made in all of our south and southwest sections. It is a fact that the same condition exists all over the state, possibly over the entire cotton belt.

Thus being the case then, there is but one answer that is let the bankers and merchants who are farmers direct their influence toward greater diversity and let them know it is so simple that you can do it.

At those who do not produce it will be that your own farm. The result will be that your own farm will be your own example and soon we will be able to make the same thing for the non-farmers.

The Street Car.
If you could be a good argument for the all-time railroad passenger car, that was of the type running 30 miles an hour, and other train ahead of it. Behind the "old" of the 121 passengers injured not one suffered broken bones.

You may recall the Mid Run disaster on the Lehigh Valley about 2 years ago. The accident was similar to that at Tyrone—moving freight cars coupling one at the station. But note the difference in the effect. At Mid Run about 30 persons were killed. In that day there were no steel cars, and the wooden ones crumpled up like egg shells before the oncoming locomotive.

Wooden cars at Tyrone would probably have meant 60 dead passengers. The steel cars saved that many lives and scores from serious injury.

The Pennsylvania building then, only seven years ago, was a steel car. It has bought no other kind. It now has over 1,000 at a cost of $200,000. This company it may be observed, owned the steel cars and steel cars in the United States.

I doubt if the traveling public realize the full advantages of the steel car. Without any doubt it is the best single advance ever made by the railroad. (Without any doubt it is the best single advance ever made by the railroad.) The air brake of course was a great improvement. It is the best of its kind. The air brake of course was a great improvement. It is the best of its kind.

But the former plate protection around every passenger. It is a great improvement. It is the best of its kind. The air brake of course was a great improvement. It is the best of its kind.

Here is a place where the public has a right to demand large expenditures of money by the railroad. The good-night curtain was run down for the first time in a long while. It was removed from the stage completely. Of course, the curtain was run down for the first time in a long while. It was removed from the stage completely.

For that reason the traveling public should demand that it be done for the protection. A steel car costs double the price of a wooden one and carries but few more passengers. It is one of the best of its kind. The air brake of course was a great improvement. It is the best of its kind.

Recent years, railroads have felt that they derive but little revenue.

Long Port is one of the men who are rapidly being forced to accept the fact that on their shoulders must fall the mantle of the older men who have helped to make Atlanta and who are recognizing that in the not far distant future they will have to resign their positions as initiators of that Atlanta Spirit.

Long Port is the popular manager of the Lamar & Hankin Drug Company and is a man who has risen to that position from the road. For many years a salesman he thoroughly understands his business and what he believes he understands human nature.

Long Port is an ideal man for a big position and he fills his place at the head of the big wholesale drug organization in a manner which has made his business and reputation grow with a steadiness which is almost phenomenal.

But the public outside of the confines of the drug trade are beginning to recognize the inherent ability in Mr. Port and they are rapidly coming to him to undertake other and more public duties. He was recently elected a director of the chamber of commerce and has sat on various important committees of this body.

In connection with the coming Southern Merchants' convention he is a member of the committee on baseball and has entered with enthusiasm into that arrangement, the entertainment feature for the merchant guests. His firm are expecting to act as hosts for many of their merchants and they are preparing to take care of them in a manner which will stick in their memories for many days.

Fodder-pulling time will soon be here again and many a corn field will be "battered" in this way as a greater expense in labor and decreased corn yield than it would have cost to produce twice as much forage in some other way. Polling corn fodder is practiced only in the south and more largely in the southeast, but the sooner

There is little resemblance between the chic little ostrich-trimmed hat of the present mode and the quaint, almost ridiculous coal scuttle bonnet of one hundred and fifty years ago. Can it be possible that the women of one hundred and fifty years hence will look back at the fashions of to-day in the same manner as we regard those of a bygone time? Examine the queer and elaborate shirred bonnet of 1800 and the wired and stiffened affair worn by the woman of 1830.

Some little resemblance to the picture hat of to-day is noticed in the Leghorn of 1810, which goes to prove that fashions, like history, are bound to repeat themselves as time rolls on. Certain it is that the Picot-edged ribbon shown on the bonnet of 1860 is again used by smart milliners of Paris and America.

THE OLD TIME FAN DELVES INTO MUTUALS V. SAVANNAH BASEBALL OF EARLY SEVENTIES

By Charles A. Lamm.

Baseball was a popular game in the north before the civil war, but equally popular, as football is today, and all ways will be, in so far as this country is concerned.

In the early seventies it began to take the form of a furniture factory in the land of the Old South. Savannah was the Savannah Senators, the "Jokers" made up the "second nine" which was so much itself.

After touring South Georgia, Florida and South Carolina and stopping up at every station, the New York Mutuals, a famous team of some professional, were invited to Savannah to lock horns with the local amateurs.

Well, that was an audacious move, all right, and it required a force of some men to finance the deal, but the Savannah Senators were game, and the Mutuals came. And they conquered, too.

But on the level, they had to play ball.

The Savannah Game.

This is written entirely from memory, and I am unable to recall the names of all the players on either team—forty-two years is some stretch—but here goes: Mutuals, Walter, pitcher, Mays, catcher, first base, Piers, second base, third base, shortstop, Hattell, the famous long-distance thrower, left field.

Savannah Senators—Piers, Evans, pitcher, Mays, catcher, first base, Kimball and Schley in the outfield, Piers, second base, third base, shortstop, Hattell, the famous long-distance thrower, left field.

It may not be a perfect picture, but it is a picture of the game as it was played in the early seventies. The Mutuals were a team of some professional players, and the Savannah Senators were a team of local amateurs. The Mutuals won the game, but the Savannah Senators were a team of some professional players, and the Savannah Senators were a team of local amateurs.

In a series of my twenty games, it would be the Athletics all the way, in my opinion. And why? Well, the class of Mack was more nerve and stamina in the pinch. That's the answer.

Referring again to the New York Mutuals, a few years after they were in Savannah Hattell made his famous long-distance throw in Brooklyn, which stood as a record for more than thirty years.

Two outfields of today can do as much as Hattell could, and not one can do as much as Hattell did. It was a feat of contradiction, that some of the players of the game were to be seen today under present conditions, if the opportunity were possible.

STUDEBAKERS START ANOTHER INNOVATION

Set Apart One Entire Manufactory to Make Parts for Studebaker Cars.

By placing at the disposal of its service department, an entire plant completely outfitted with expensive machinery and able to turn out on short notice parts for every model of its cars now in the hands of the public, the Studebaker Corporation has taken an advanced step toward the ideal relationship between manufacturer and the owners of his cars.

"There are now considerably more than 100,000 Studebaker cars in the hands of owners," says the General Manager, Clarence H. Booth. "So far as we know, all these cars are in daily service, despite the fact that many of the earliest models have been driven upwards of 75,000 miles.

"No mechanical device will endure constant service without at least occasional replacement. These must, of necessity, be supplied by the parent factory. Up-to-date we have furnished Studebaker parts from this source, through the process continued in some extent our scheme of production, by setting apart one factory for this purpose. Our service arrangements are, in fact, practically ideal and regular manufacturing system uninterrupted."

The plant purchased by the Studebaker is at Pontiac, and was formerly known as the Valiant Gear Works. Later, in an enlarged form it was used as the main building of an automobile company which recently went into the hands of a receiver. Communication with the main plants of the Studebaker system will be by rail and automobile trucks.

Get Immediate Repairs.
Aside from insuring a permanent supply of parts for all Studebaker models, an advantage of the plant will be the ability to turn out for each Studebaker dealer a stock of parts fitted to the needs of his territory, thus permitting him to install immediate repairs on any Studebaker car.

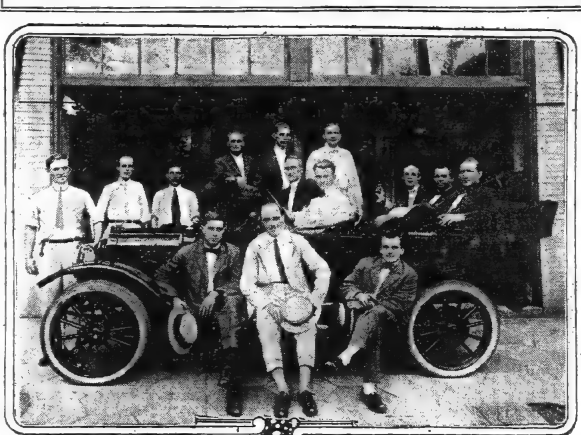

In equipping the plant, the Studebakers are able to make use of much machinery used in the production of former models, all of which have been built complete in the Corporation's factories.

The service plant will be known as No. 13 of the Studebaker system. A. Austin is in charge as superintendent.

ESTATE OF $4,565,106

New York, August 9.—Isidor Straus, the merchant and politician, who lost his life when the Titanic sank in April, 1912, left an estate valued at $4,565,106. His wife, Mrs. Isidor Straus, who refused to desert her husband when she could have saved herself, before the Titanic went down, left an estate of $23,517. The portion of the estate of Benjamin Guggenheim, another Titanic victim, which was filed today, shows that it will total over $100,000, although the exact amount will not be known for some time. The incomplete schedule shows holdings of $749,000. The bequest total $448,000. The six children of Mr. and Mrs. Straus are the sole heirs of their combined estates. In his will, Mr. Straus made mention of charitable bequests but left a letter to his children urging them to continue his philanthropy. The six children already have contributed $185,000 to benevolence in which their father was interested.

SOUTHERN AUTO DEALERS VIEWING THE NEW MAXWELL MODEL "25" AT COMPANY'S SHOWROOM IN ATLANTA

A very interesting meeting of all the Maxwell dealers in the south was held in Atlanta during the first part of the past week. C. P. Redden, general sales manager of the Maxwell Motor company, addressed the meeting at a luncheon at the Ashby hotel, given in honor of Mr. Redden's visit.

200 MILES AN HOUR FOR MOTOR CAR OF FUTURE

Henry Ford, of Detroit, Sees No Reason Why Great Speed Can't Be Reached.

Detroit, Mich., August 9.—"What do you think the evolution of the motor car ultimately will produce?" Henry Ford turned and smiled slightly. "Tell me what you mean," he replied. "The clumsy two-wheeled cart of the world's youth evolved into the luxurious limousine, the Montgolfier balloon, lifted by hot air, developed into the Curtiss biplane. In what way will the motor car of the future differ from the first Ford motor car?"

Mr. Ford passed a hand over his forehead and his eyes took on a contemplative look. The man who recreated the diamond valley of the mechanical revolution was thinking of the painful early path. It suggested that each night of his or 300 years do not belong to the inventor but tollsome days and wretched nights with infinitesimal progress.

"Lightness is what we are striving for more than any other thing," he said. "It will not be long before the present 1,500-pound motor car will be reduced in weight to 900 pounds. This will mean greater speed and somewhat lower price. But the price cannot be greatly decreased because higher material demands greater strength and craftsmanship.

"Although I am not a speed enthusiast, my aim being to increase comfort, seen reason why motor cars should not eventually attain 150 or 200 miles an hour. But there would be no room for passengers on streets used by such machines. They would require special highways. In fact, rails would probably be the proper thing. Just as we have rails now for our railroad trains."

"Would gasoline use such fuel-rich sufficient power for these light speed machines?"

"Oh, yes, though it might be necessary to mingle other liquids."

"Wouldn't gasoline set on fire a motor car going at 200 miles an hour unless some new lubricant were employed?"

"By no means; we have dynamo that run for a whole year with one application of lubricating oil."

And this was as far as Henry Ford would go in snatching motor secrets from the future.

Ex-Minister Finch Dead.

La Crosse, Wis., August 9.—William H. Finch, United States minister to Paraguay and Uruguay from 1897 to 1905 and for many years publisher of the La Crosse Republican and Leader, was found dead in a bathroom at his residence here this afternoon.

Death is thought to have been due to apoplexy. Mr. Finch was 68 years old.

and the arrival of the new Maxwell Model '25'. The above shows the southern dealers viewing the new Maxwell at the company's show room, 310 Peachtree street.

FIVE MEN ARE KILLED WHEN BOILER EXPLODES

Clarksville, Texas, August 9.—Five men were instantly killed and two more so badly injured that it is believed they will die, when a boiler at the Major's sawmill, 15 miles southeast of Clarksville, exploded today.

The dead: C. J. Major, George Major, Will Ogilvie, Joe Daniels and Pinky Maxwell.

The injured: Ernest Peacock and Tony Costa. C. J. Major and his son, George Major, moved to this county from Pennsylvania two years and purchased large tracts of timber and prairie land.

TAINTED ICE CREAM CAUSES TWO DEATHS

Molerstown, Pa., August 9.—Tainted ice cream, according to state health authorities, is responsible for the deaths of two persons and the serious illness of thirty others of this city. The latter four are believed to be dying. The disease seems to be a complication of typhoid fever and pneumonia poisoning. The dead are Paul Reiser, aged 18, of Molerstown, and Clyde Baines, aged 18, of Hickerman's Corners. The critically ill are Miss Jessie and the Frederick W. Scott and two children, all of this place.

The ice cream was eaten at a party several weeks ago.

MADE GOOD RECORDS IN INDIANA-PACIFIC TOUR

Premier Led Way on Long Trip, and G. & J. Truck Attracts Considerable Attention.

Los Angeles, August 9.—The Indiana-Pacific tour, consisting entirely of Indiana manufacturers, touring to the Pacific coast on a booster and goodwill trip, was completed at Los Angeles August 8.

This tour was a splendid example of the co-operation of competing manufacturers in an endeavor to make the journey to the coast.

In view of the great reputation Premier cars have been chosen as the pilot to lead the way from Indianapolis to Los Angeles. The driver and his car bore out their past reputation by radiating the way into all centers, including both coast and night. The distance registered by the Premier pilot car was 5,740 miles.

A. L. Westgard, chairman of the national highway commission, and known as the "Good Road Finder of America," whose car was selected to carry the various governors through the several states through which they passed across their state, drove his Premier with the tour to Los Angeles. From Los Angeles, Mr. Westgard turned north to Portland to complete his 17,000 miles of road-traveling before bad weather at sea.

G. & J. Truck Attracts Attention. The car which chose in for more than its share of consideration in every control was the G. & J. truck put in the tour by the United States Fire company to carry a load of assorted sizes of spare tires to take care of the requirements on route. This truck was driven by Walter Weidner, the youngest driver on the tour, being yet in his teens. Walter Weidner is the son of George Weidner, designer of Premier cars. This was a 1911 rebuilt Premier pleasure car which had seen two years' service, but it again proved the sturdiness of Premier, and went through this trip with great credit to its performance.

McNamara's cars had the original Indianapolis air in two tires, was equipped with three of the original tires at the finish, and suffered only three punctures. The G. & J. truck finished with Hoosier air in two tires. The other cars in the tour made records which not only reflect credit upon the highly developed motor car of today, but special credit upon the product of Indiana.

Home for Argentine Legation.
Buenos Aires, August 9.—An appropriation of $100,000, requested by the Argentine government for the purchase of a building at Washington for the Argentine legation to the United States, was approved today by the senate committee.

SEVEN PERSONS DROWN WHEN MOTORBOAT SINKS

Six of the Victims Women. Party Bound for a Dance.

East Freetown, Mass., August 9.—Six women and a man were drowned and three other persons were saved when a motor boat sank in Long Pond tonight.

The dead are George Wright and Miss Hayes, of Brockton; Miss Nellie Hamilton, Launceston; Miss Annie Sweney, Miss Ruth McCabe, Miss Mabel New Bedford.

Miss Henry W. Raymond and Luther M. Dalton, of New Bedford and R. James Stevens, Launceston, were rescued by Frederick Macey, who has a cottage at the pond, and who, responding to cries for help, was able to pick up four persons in his motorboat. One of the four, Miss McCabe, failed to revive. The party was bound for a dance at Lakeside park. Soon after leaving shore the boat sprang a leak. Some reports said that the bottom dropped out. Darkness added to the difficulties of rescue work. Mr. Macey's boat was the first to reach the scene. When other boats arrived no other bodies could be found.

Up to midnight none of the six bodies had been recovered.

The season of 1913 has been unprecedented in the demand for

GOODRICH UNIT MOLDED TIRES

Even the largest rubber factory in the world could not turn them out in sufficient quantities to give every Goodrich friend the equipment he wanted.

Now

an enormously increased production has been made possible by new machinery, new buildings and hundreds of additional employees.

Today

we are in position to give the real, old-fashioned Goodrich Service in heaping measure.

All 1914 Demands of Automobile Dealers and Buyers are Fulfilled in the

The Complete Line of Four Cylinder and Six Cylinder Cars - Electric Cranking, Lighting and Ignition - Left Hand Drive and Center Control

Delco System

Starting, Lighting, Ignition on Every Buick

The Delco System for 1914 is built into the car. It is an integral part of the mechanism. It is a part of every Buick, regardless of price—heretofore furnished only on higher priced cars. We know it worthy of Buick standards of dependableness.

A Buick for All

There is a Buick model for every man who intends to buy any car. You who look closely to expense will find that there are cars that sell for some less than Buicks. But count what you get; count upkeep cost; count market value after months or years of use; count daily satisfaction in certainty of service, comfort, convenience, appearance and pride of ownership.

READ those display lines again. They contain the biggest news, the most important message that will appear in all the announcements on 1914 cars. America's leading dealers—the men who sold 30,000 Buicks last year, and have sold 150,000 in all—find that we have overleaped even their highest expectations.

Those who know the Buick have already decided on it as their 1914 car, regardless of equipment, because of what the car is fundamentally, because of the Buick Overhead Valve Motor with its greater power, speed and economy, Buick dependableness and serviceableness—with all the proved improvements—everything which is latest and best in automobile construction.

Dealers in territory not already occupied will see in this announcement an opportunity, for they know the business-building power of Buick satisfaction-representing. They know that where one Buick is sold many will follow. They know what a large, permanent, ever-growing asset a Buick contract represents.

Topping Off A Nine-Year Record of "Making Good"

The 1914 Buick presents every approved feature that has demonstrated itself worthy of that record. The Improved Delco System of Electric Starting, Lighting and Ignition was adopted for the Buick only after exhaustive experiment, which proved that it had Buick dependableness and durability.

INVITATION TO DEALERS

A live dealer in a good territory should make money; if he doesn't, it's because he is frittering away his time with a line that is a handicap. If your territory is open, why waste your time when with the Buick you can not only make money for yourself, but build up a satisfactory permanent business. A solid, permanent business must have its foundation in satisfied customers who are ready to back up your statements. That is why Buick dealers prosper, for it has been demonstrated that a good car for the dealer must be a good car for the user.

The sale of 30,000 Buicks this year is only a promise of what our 1914 output will be. We can now supply more dealers because of our increased capacity.

RIGHT NOW is the time to take it up if you want to join the big car-making and selling organization of America. Buick dealers don't change. The reason will interest you if you are a live dealer in open territory.

Rotterdam Will Decline.
Rotterdam, which largely lives out of traffic bound for or to the German third-rate port. It will merely attract such traffic as is needed for Dutch local requirements. The Dutch loss will not be confined to this. The whole of Dutch Lower China as a result of its interior depth and general inferiority, must decay. It is even possible that western Holland lying along the Waal and Maas will be supplied with merchandise entering not via Rotterdam, but via Emden and the New Rhine.

Germany will profit in war more even than in peace. At present in wartime Germany, even if she secures the command of the sea, may have her Rhine commerce stopped by an unfriendly Holland, whom she course. The Dutch could block the river to German ships and merchandise. Once the New Rhine is built, Germany will be mistress of her own river; and no power that has not command of the sea will be able to meddle with her over-sea trade. The prospect of these very practical advantages, and the sentimental advantage of having a "Deutscher Rhein" are having a strong effect on German public opinion; and there is little doubt that when the money market gets easier an appeal for the necessary capital will produce the $200,000,000 needed.

Join With Your Neighbors and Buy a Corn Sheller.
(T. B. Parker, in The Progressive Farmer.)

It will soon be fodder-pulling time.

Statistics show us that as fodder is generally pulled, the injury to the corn is as much as the fodder is worth. Do not be in too big a hurry to pull the fodder. Wait until the corn is hard. But a better plan is—if you are prepared to handle the crop that way—to cut the corn, put in well made corks of about 2000 stalks each, let it cure out thoroughly and shred it. Of course, this is impracticable, if there is no shredder in your neighborhood. But why not get your neighbors together and start a little co-operative movement and buy a shredder and engine and shred the corn in the neighborhood. This will be much cheaper than pulling fodder and will enable you to save and utilize all the corn plant instead of only

Harry F. Padden, former director of sales for the Hupp Motor Car company, and located in New York, has been removed to Boston, where he has become New England distributor for the Hupp Motor company, replacing H. J. Kessler, who has given up the Hupp in both Boston and New York and also in Newark, to become eastern distributor of the Grant car to be made in Detroit.

Owens is all out apart by the removal of the truck factory from the general motor company from that city, and two others want to bring suit for the recovery of the property, claiming that the plant was bought in that city action derived by the Owens Improvement association, which has a legal motor company in the Owens other department of its work in the plant.

Indiana-Pacific tourists, in their reports of the trip through the beautiful country of the west, when an altitude of nearly 10,000 feet was reached, spoke of the fact that the motor meters showed a temperature of 135, but George H. Townsend, president of the Motorists' association of New York, who is in Detroit, says that the temperature of the water boils at 75 degrees at 10,000 feet.

ABOUT TO KILL WIFE,
CRAZED MAN IS SHOT

After Being Wounded Sanford Flees and Cuts His Throat.

Green Castle, Ind., August 9.—Otis Sanford, crazed by drink, went to the neighborhood of Blairsville, near here, this morning and received injuries which will cause his death. Sanford went to the home of his wife, who had not said for divorce, and around her and the three children. Their screams attracted the woman's father, Jason Hand, and her brother, Ray Hand, who lived in an adjoining house.

The two men took advantage, but Sanford had disappeared. They sent Mrs. Sanford and the children to the Hand home and set down to await Sanford's return. In a few minutes flames began issuing from Mr. Hand's barn. Sanford's wife and three children fled to the house by the Hand and her daughter screaming that Sanford was in the house drive to see it on fire and kill his wife.

Ray Hand grabbed his shotgun and shot at Sanford. Sanford was wounded in the shoulder and he staggered into the yard and fell. A younger sister of Mrs. Hand, fearing another attack, ran to the house and found Sanford lying on the ground.

Sanford crawled toward the house and reached the door, where he was found by several neighbors. He was taken to the hospital, where he died.

Sanford was a man of about 30 years of age, and was a native of Indiana. He had been in the city for some time, and was known to several of the residents.

W. E. Storkel, general manager of the Green Castle Hotel, said that he had been informed of the shooting, and that he had seen Sanford lying on the ground.

Three Staves, one Paige-Detroit, one Mitchell, one Abbott, three Stuts, and a Midland car are on order for the Johnson Motor Car Company.

Much to the surprise of even the townsmen, who have heard of the shooting, the shooting was a tragedy.

CARRIAGE TIRE EXPERT
SPENDS WEEK IN CITY

C. H. Berrick, manager of the carriage tire department of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company, Akron, Ohio, is in Atlanta today.

Mr. Berrick, who is with Willie West, Atlanta Firestone manager, will visit all the large carriage manufacturers in this section of the country.

Mr. Berrick is probably the best-known carriage tire expert in the country.

After Courtship of 12 Years Marries Girl Who Nursed Him

The marriage of Mr. B. C. Harris and Miss Pearl Goodrich, one of the head nurses at Wesley Memorial hospital, at the residence of Rev. S. R. Bell in West End Friday night, was the culmination of a romance of twelve years.

It was thus long ago that the groom met his bride-to-be, and the two were married. The bride is a native of Georgia, and the groom is a native of Georgia.

These braided wires, which we control, gave us rulership of tiredness.

The No-Rim-Cut tire is a Goodyear invention, and we still control it. An essential feature is these braided wires, which no one else can make.

This tire can't be forced off. But when you unhook and remove a flange it easily slips off. There are no hooks on the base to "freeze" into the rim flange, as with old-type tires.

It has also made Goodyears the world's favorite tires. They now out-sell all others.

Ruins Almost 1 in 3 Time and again we have gathered statistics to show what rim-cut cost. This year we employed certified public accountants, so the figures could not be disputed.

They examined thousands of ruined clincher tires, taking them as they came. The old-type hooked-base tires. And they found that 31.8 per cent had been discarded for rim-cutting only.

That's almost one tire in three. That conveys some idea of the saving accomplished by this Goodyear No-Rim-Cut tire.

How We Did It We did this by making a hookless tire—one that does not hook to the rim. Thus your removable rim flanges can be set curve outward—not inward as with clincher tires.

Then the tire, when wholly or partly deflated, rests on a rounded edge. There is no curved-in rim flange to dig into the tire. Thus rim-cutting is made impossible.

These tires fit any standard rim. The GOODYEAR TIRE & RUBBER COMPANY, AKRON, OHIO

CRACK POLO PLAYERS ARE BADLY INJURED

New York, August 9.—According to reliable sources received here tonight from London, Walter Buckmaster and Captain P. O. Miller, the polo players, were seriously injured today in a motor accident near Esher, Eng.

Miller was in charge of the postman used in the last international cup series played at Meadow Brook last year. An injury to Mr. Buckmaster, who was selected to captain the English team prior to the cup match, kept him out of the game at that time.

At a late hour tonight, the message stated, both Captain Miller and Mr. Buckmaster were unconscious.

The accident occurred when the two players were driving in a motor car near Esher, Eng. The car was driven by a third person, who was not injured.

COTTON PRICES WERE LOWERED

Signs of Rain in the Southwest, Where It is Badly Needed, Caused Decline of 13 to 20 Points.

New York, August 9.—Prospects for better weather in the southwest caused a sharp decline in the cotton market today, with prices selling into new low ground for the movement. Covering caused slight rally in the late trading, and the closing tone was steady, but last prices were 13 to 20 points net lower.

Local spot traders noted the pressure of a broadening low barometer over the southwest and private inquiries of shippers, based on the development, were confirmed by the official forecasts which called for unsettled and showery weather in west Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, with increasing clouds for east Texas. Moreover, heavy rains were reported from Weathers, Louisiana, which seemed to be pretty near the growth season. The fact that continued private reports of rain at Galveston and showers were shown at a number of points in the Texas Gulf coast, the whole consequently, a more favorable outlook prevailed, and the cotton market on drought and depression today were credited with selling activity this morning.

The Liverpool market showed an special feature, but the rates were a shade lower. The close of yesterday's trading, the local opening was steady at an advance of 10 points on August 9, generally 6 to 8 points lower.

There was some buying attributed to trade interests, at the start, as well as scattered covering of the spot market. The market, of course, was quiet, and the local opening was steady at an advance of 10 points on August 9, generally 6 to 8 points lower.

Realizing by recent sellers was very heavy at the decline, and the market was nervous and unsettled during the entire morning.

Spot cotton quiet, unchanged; middling upland 12.00; middling sea 12.15; no sale.
